Course Description: This course is to study the different aspects of coaching including philosophies and techniques. It will provide the student with a basic understanding of coaching on all levels: youth, elementary, high school, college and professional. However more emphasis will be directed to the development, conditioning, weight training, practices, games, motivation, legal aspects, public relations, media, fundraising and ethics.

Course Objectives: Students will gain an understanding of different styles and techniques of coaching. Through lectures, video tapes, guest lecturers and discussion they will receive a comprehensive outlook into coaching. They will interview coaches to evaluate different philosophies and also critique a journal article. This course will assist them in developing their own philosophy and how they would be an effective coach if they should so chose.

Writing Assignment: We will have a writing assignment based on a reading and analysis of an article from The Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance relative to coaching. The journals are in our library. The length of the paper is four to five, double spaced typewritten pages. I am looking for a summary but more importantly your opinion and feelings on the matter. Your original ideas relating to the subject are what will be graded most heavily.
Oral Presentation/Paper: You will interview a youth or elementary coach and a high school coach or college coach. (You will be graded on a summary of the interview but more importantly what insight you reached into his or her professionalism, philosophy and potential effectiveness with his or her players or team on that level of coaching. Do you agree or disagree with the measures of this coach and what would you change if you were in that coach’s shoes.) Before you do your interviews you need to get an O.K. with John Kresse on your selectees. Students will not be allowed to interview the same coach so approval will be on a first come basis. (You are required to do an oral presentation (minimum 5 minutes) on one of your two interviews. A seven to eight, double spaced typewritten paper on your interviews must be handed in the day of your presentation. You will entertain questions from fellow-students or me.

Grading: You will have three tests (two during the term and a final). Each test will count as 100 points. Your writing assignment will count as 25 points and your oral presentation/paper will count as 75 points. There will be a total of 400 points for the course.
